The Decision Rendered in the Chickasaw Council Case a Matter of Doubt.

A Statement that the President Will Issue a Proclamation Excluding Cattlemen and Settlers.

Alleged Agreement Said with the Full-Bloods and Lincoln Council—The Actions Reported.

THE CATTLEMEN'S CHANCE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 12.—[Special.]—The representatives of the Oklahoma settlers have taken no active interruption tonight as to the result of the Council meeting and the fact that they have an advantageous basis in the contest here. They are apparently hopeful that the President, who is back and has not authorized open public advice, will adjust their affairs to get into the old rank and to be restored to the favorable conditions of the Cherokee and by the Congressional Act, and in favor of the policy of the last administration. It is believed that a decision as to the which matter has been left to Secretary Lamar. Even should the Council decide that they were dropped by treachery of the Council the explanation is that the decision will be that the order of the last administration as to the occupation of the portions from the Territory will be maintained, and an appeal to that the cattlemen also would be required from Oklahoma. This policy, it is said, by advocates, will be characterized by the representatives of the settlers here as a vindictive and unsparing.

THE LOUISIANA'S VOTE.

The representatives of the cross-side of the question, however, are very positive tonight that the decision of the administration will be to maintain the present policy. They believe it impossible that Secretary Lamar, or indeed the President himself, can be induced to change the policy of the last administration, and they are confident that the decision will be in the affirmative. They say that the President has announced to each one of the delegations that he will not change the policy, and that he has not authorized any one to say that he will change it. They say that the President has announced to each one of the delegations that he will not change the policy, and that he has not authorized any one to say that he will change it. They say that the President has announced to each one of the delegations that he will not change the policy, and that he has not authorized any one to say that he will change it.

LIQUOR IN ILLINOIS.

Minority Report of the House Liquor Committee Opposing the New Bill.

Taxpayers Saved $3,000,000 Annually and Four Thousand Saloons Closed by the Harper Law.

The New Bill Go Fast Any Vessel Ten Wisky or a Saloon License No.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 12.—[Special.]—The first fight over the liquor question has opened in the House today. It was entered on the part that business should begin with the repeal of existing restrictions, and to that end the general vote the Scott majority the present vote the Cullom Committee that option the Scotch, in Chairman, reported back the old Dying Law Harper License as a substitute for of 1883, thus increasing the fees license $150 and increasing the saloon license $100.

Mr. Harper, representing the minority of the Cullom Committee, submitted the following views:

Mr. Speech objected to the making of the views of the minority, declaring that their property rights up since the 1st day on which meeting.

The Chair said that if the bill was passed on it it had to go through the various stages of first, second, and third reading, and that the following views were in order. The minority report was therefore read as follows:

"The minority members of the Committee on Liquor Traffic beg to report as follows:

"In the effort of this body to find some legislation which will be satisfactory to the majority of the people of this State, we have given the subject careful consideration during the recess of the Legislature, and have had the benefit of the experience of the past year under the Harper law. We have also had the benefit of the experience of other States which have tried various methods of regulating the liquor traffic. A PEACEFUL EXPLOSION.

Shotgun Shot Dispersed to the Anarchists Upon Wooden Heads by the Recording of a Ballot.

SAGINAW, Mich., March 12.—[Special.]—A ballot in the German Anti-Prohibition Ticket, sent to the German constituency to exercise for the disenfranchisement of sought-to-vote of this, excited this afternoon, wrapping the Saginaw Republican and having twelve cartridges in the side. Eleven were taken out Jews or two bruised and contusions.

Of the injured citizens John, a bartender in Saginaw, had a bone and a leg broken, besides other injuries, and is a helpless to-day. Charles Gaertz, the brewer, was standing in front of the hotel when it exploded, and is seriously injured about the head and his right ankle sprained. Charles Bauer, a shoemaker's helper, had his shoulder broken and is otherwise injured. Hans Ritter, a freight conductor, is severely injured. Charles Gaertz, John Bruder, James Hansen, and a man named Taylor have severe bruises. The others are not supposed to be seriously hurt. The idea in the promoter in the explosion will be entered to Judge. No one seems to know what caused the burning of the ballot, other than that it was being pressed to its full capacity.

TO BE CREMATED.

The Remains of a Late Chicago Citizen Shipped to Lancaster, Pa., for Incineration.

A year ago yesterday the remains of Thomas C. Wing, a retired merchant, who lived at No. 1001 Wing avenue, were placed in the vault at Graceland Cemetery. Yesterday the body was taken from that place and shipped to Lancaster, Pa., where it is to be cremated according to the wish of the deceased. This was done in accordance with the provisions of a will executed by Mr. Wing in 1882, and which was kept in the possession of the executors and executrix named therein. The body is under the charge of the undertaker, and it is expected that the cremation will take place on Monday next.

Mr. Wing was a native of Connecticut, and was seventy-three years of age at the time of his death. He was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and was a liberal contributor to the support of the same. He was also a member of the Board of Trustees of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and was a liberal contributor to the support of the same. THE ANGLO-CONFUSION.

LONDON, March 14.—[Special Cablegram.]—The gravity and seriousness with which the Venezuelan question is viewed in the House of Commons has crowding to a climax regarding the Anglo-Russian complication. Both parties foresaw the serious turn to affairs and have shown much a controversy of the belief that war is imminent. The language of the Premier's reply was sufficient to decide a question, but the effect was rather heightened by the gravity of the occasion. The house sank down differently and did not attempt to straighten himself to his feet right. He kept the hand back on a mantelpiece from which the back to the hand and only glanced at his audience once or twice to a feature and always apologetic tone. His delivery was in marked contrast with the usual decisive manner, and a prepared note to friends to listen to and though the speech was simply a response. He left that the Government had received no further word from St. Petersburg—that it was not correct that the Russian troops had been further advanced and that the relations between the Russian and British Governments had not improved. The speech was a serious disappointment to all who have been hoping for peace.

THE CHINESE TROUBLE.

The correspondents of commercial and other here officially informed that the Chinese Government have authorized extensive naval purchases in England and France which cannot avoid but affect considerably the whole of preferential arrangements. The people had the impression that there would be a speedy solution of the difficulty. There is also the ingrowing belief that if Mr. Chamberlain would have made such a statement he would have done so. There is no sign to disprove this opinion, the public, quite with more confidence than for several days, that the Chinese, and to those ways to meet this crowning fact of the case after a judgment of peace be moved on here the anxiety of millions of people. In did not offer any such prospect, and the Government is accordingly held for this and therefore the worst out.

A Resolution of Congratulation Tentatively Passed by the Connecticut General Assembly.

New York, March 12.—[Special.]—Gen. Grant's condition did not differ essentially to-day from that of yesterday. The report issued this morning by the attending physicians was quite similar to that issued yesterday morning. The physicians say the patient is doing well, and that there is no change in his condition. Dr. Douglas Shrady also visited the house this morning, and expressed himself as satisfied with the progress the case was making. Dr. Douglas said he would not say the patient was out of danger, but that he was hopeful that he would recover.

Gen. Grant was neither worse nor better to-day than he was yesterday. He was not quite so well as he was on Wednesday, but he was not as sick as he was on Tuesday. He is still suffering from the effects of the cocaine, and his throat is very much swollen. He is also troubled with a cough, which is very severe at times. He is not suffering any pain, however, and is resting quite easily. He took considerable nourishment during the day, and his physicians say that he is holding his own. (1) An account of the Counting Club of the Lotus last night. Thomas Dunn sent a night to the house of pain and surrender.

Edwin Dolge the scientific lightning artist, entered his evening's play on the Union stage, and planted a bolt in Lotus dagger ceremonies in Hall. Not one in sitting from the detention for the trouble.

There was quite new authorship seen in the Justice Court yesterday. It was that of a bold woman Joseph H. Connelly, who labors under the juvenile delusion that he is Lincoln Chatterton and Hawkes, and that is consequently to some distress.

The temperature yesterday, as observed by Wessels (Pioneer Building), was as the way: Thermometer, 7 a. m., 30° above zero; 9 a. m., 32°; 12 m., 34°; 3 p. m., 35°; 6 p. m., 32°; 9 p. m., 31°; 12 p. m., 30°; 3 a. m., 30°; 6 a. m., 30°. Barometer, 7 a. m., 30.04.

There are now but two weeks of work on the seventy-six bridges yet left undone. There are twenty-seven steamers along the north and south branch, near Polk, Harrison, and Taylor streets, some boats that have remained there since April 21st by reason of the high water.

The Home Lodge of Oddfellows commemorated its fourth anniversary by a banquet at the Bridge House last evening, at which about sixty members were present. Toasts were responded to by J. Ward Brown, D. C. Brown, E. W. Crandall, J. W. Brown, Hugh Rogers, J. Avery Brown, and F. D. Hunt.

Joseph Fritz, the barber who shot and killed Thomas Shannon Dec. 5, in a saloon fight at the old Fort Dearborn hotel, was found guilty of an assault with intent to kill in Judge Gary's court yesterday morning and his bond fixed at five years in the penitentiary.

Harry Evans, a 17-year-old youth lately imported from England, was arrested yesterday charged with stealing books and money amounting to $100 from C. H. Revell, the book seller at No. 63 Madison street. Evans had been employed there as a clerk and the goods were found secreted in his lodgings on Lincoln avenue. The boy confessed, stating that he had spent the money in riding from the downtown district to his home.

Yesterday morning Mary Evans and Ida Ray, aged 17 and 18 years, respectively, were arrested by Detectives Shea and Gilbert on a charge of stealing $100 worth of clothing from the residence of Mrs. Ida Ray, 1,000 Lincoln avenue. The girls had been employed as domestics by Mrs. Ray, and when she left the city for a few days they packed up all the clothing they could find and left for Evanston, where they were arrested.

In yesterday's Tribune appeared a paragraph announcing the arrest of one William Hanley for assaulting a young man named Joseph Lyons with brass knuckles. Hanley's defense was that the young man had insulted his wife, being then young Lyons was presenting his brother's card. Hanley also declared that he did not know Benjamin Lyons personally, but that he was a friend of his wife's. The case will come up in the Harrison Police Court.

Upon the application of Attorney Ira M. Cobe, Judge Tuley yesterday appointed Mrs. Ida Ray guardian of the estate of Ida Ray, a minor, who is the owner of property valued at $100,000. The petition set forth that the minor is the daughter of Mrs. Ida Ray and the late Thomas Ray, who died in this city on Dec. 5, 1903. The property consists of a number of flats and residences on the North Side.

Mrs. Ida Ray, mother of the minor Ida Ray, for whom a guardian was appointed yesterday, has been arrested on a charge of stealing clothing from the residence of her daughter. The arrest was made by Detectives Shea and Gilbert, who say that they found a large quantity of clothing in the house. Mrs. Ray was released on bail

Sterling bankers in the local money market yesterday to furnish the following rates from the commercial rates, and business houses report an improving movement of their merchandise. The receipts and shipments of commercial paper, and bankers say, which were quoted at 4@5 per cent in the city and for thirty days, have to grow cheaper to-day. The movement is regarded as a prophetic effect on borrowers rates on the money market, but the influence on the money market is plainly manifest in matters of current needs of goods, the buying being less than was expected by a year to the end. Bankers say quantity to a rate in the call for the Western banks will be a large demand during the next few months. There has an increase in foreign bills, but it seemed to have no connection with the current movement in Europe. The following were the quotations:

Trade is sensitive to a very slight change in the rates of the Exchange and Money Exchange are rapidly going into the hands of consumers. They have made their appearance in this city. Among commercial paper on the market were $5,000 United States 4s at 101, $1,000 city 4s at 100, $1,000 4s at 101, $1,000 Chicago & Northwestern consolidated 7s at 141, $5,000 Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific 4s at 101, $5,000 Chicago & Northwestern 6s at 101, $5,000 Northern Pacific & Southwestern 4s at 101, and $5,000 Baltimore & Ohio 4s at 101. On the New York Stock Exchange the sales footed up 150,000 shares. Confidence was rather in the background, and the day was pretty much off. The reports from London were less startling, and there was a great deal of anticipation that the embargo would be removed on the Czar, and others that a decree would be issued this week. The demand on call loans was not as large as expected, and the rate ruled from 2@3 per cent. The demand for time loans was light, and there was a good deal of money to be had at 4 per cent, and perhaps the Harriman loans, which are payable on demand, will be loaned at 3 per cent. There was no activity in foreign bills, but it seemed to have no connection with the current movement in Europe. The following were the quotations:
